- Dr. Senanu is a wonderful instructor, initially I felt like quitting the class, but as time went on I was enjoying the course. She simplified the course I really understood it. I wish I could take more classes with her. Honestly she did a fantastic job in making conquer my fear in data modeling.
- Dr. Okuboyejo can become an excellent teacher if she continues to work to improve her communication and leadership skills. She has an excellent attitude and is delightful to talk to over Zoom - however, she needs to improve her written communication skills. I've never been more confused by a class. Frequently, the assignment requirements were difficult to understand. The syllabus, D2L, and schedule often contained incorrect & contradictory information. Students were left mainly to their own devices to complete assignments and were not provided a textbook, lectures, or relevant resources to understand the material. I hope Dr. Okuboyejo succeeds as a professor - I know she can be a great teacher.
- I really dreaded taking this course but Sena was a very patient and understanding teacher who really helped me get a better understanding of what statistics actually is and how to use software that will be useful in my work.
- I have a very good learning experience with professor Senanu in this class MIS 671-Problem Formulation and Data Presentation. It recollects my college days taking up the statistics class. I have learned a lot in this class in relation to Statistical Analysis like descriptive and regressions analysis as well as it helps me to understand how the data being interpreted. She's a very well verse in this subject and I would like to thank her for the efforts she extend to me to learned and understand the topic. Thank you so much. The fall semester is a very worthwhile class for me of learning!
- She is knowledgeable on the subject. Her grading is poor. She cuts points for every minor issue. However, she gives multiple opportunities to resubmit assignments to improve the grade.
- Great experience with this course
- Sena is a wonderful teacher - a real teacher - in that her aim is make sure we succeed at bringing the skills we learn in her classroom into our professional lives. The skills I learned in this class are skills wasn't sure I would master, but Sena's encouragement and willingness to work with me in extra Zoom sessions and via email got me there. She's an extraordinary teacher.
