Hi Sena,
It looks like you are off to a great start! Your course design for your spring courses support the best practices of online learning (QM) with learner-learner and learner-instructor interactions. I also like that you are engaging training to learn alternative ways of managing the classroom. Good work. Also, thank you for developing the new proposed course on Big Data. This course should begin its process through the curriculum process starting in the Fall 2023.

For criterion 2, you have participated in an amazing amount of training for 2 months! It would be helpful if you listed a research paper in progress and an intended outlet. I look forward to seeing a published peer reviewed paper or an Open Educational Resource in the next PDR cycle.

For criterion 3, again, you have participating in an amazing amount of training for 2 months! I particularly like the Introduction to Learning Outcomes and Curriculum Mapping Workshop. This will be helpful practice as we continue to update the graduate program.

For criterion 4, thank you for participating in the advising learning activities. These interactions will be helpful as you begin working with advisees in the Fall. Also the training through the MCFOCC will be helpful as you navigate the various populations that are part of the Metro State student body.

For criterion 5, excellent start on serving the university and the academic community.

Regards,
Queen
